Reasons for Allowance

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 23-30, 32, 34-37, 39 and 41-45 are allowable over the prior art of record because the Examiner found neither prior art cited in its entirety, nor based on the prior art, found any motivation to combine any of the said prior arts.

The primary reason for allowance for claims 23 and 37 is the inclusion of "checking whether at least one other resource constraint is not violated by the releasing of the allocation units, and performing the releasing of the allocation units that are scheduled for the user or service only if the at least one other resource constraint is not violated by the releasing of the allocation units".

The remaining claims, not specifically mentioned, are allowed because they are dependent upon one of the claim mentioned above.

The closest prior art, US Pub. No. 20050203956 A1, relates to a method and apparatus for resource management in integrated data and voice communications, and more specifically, to allocating resources in order to accommodate voice and data users while maximizing resource usage. More specifically data users in the system are allowed to communicate in the manner of performing steps of comparing channel gains and selecting a candidate with the best gain, determining whether the channel gain of the selected candidate meet a threshold, inhibiting the candidate, if it does not meet, and returning the process to continue with scheduling of data users for transmission. However, this reference does not specifically teach or suggest the step of checking whether at least one other resource constraint is not violated by the releasing of the allocation units, and performing the releasing of the allocation units that are scheduled for the user or service only if the at least one other resource constraint is not violated by the releasing of the allocation units. Therefore the invention as claimed is allowable over the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
